

A Christmas Carol

Characters including additional minor roles

Narrator

- Small boys singing a Christmas Carol
- Ebenezer Scrooge
- Jacob Marley`s Ghost
- Nephew Fred
- Two gentlemen
- Ghost of Christmas Past
- Old Fezziwig, Scrooge`s first boss
- Scrooge`s old sweetheart
- Ghost of Christmas Present
- Bob Cratchit
- Peter Cratchit
- Mrs Cratchit
- Martha Cratchit
- Tiny Tim
- Nephew Fred`s wife
- Ghost of Christmas Future
- Two Fat Merchants
- Two gravediggers
- Newspaper Boy

Narrator

Scene I In the office

Narrator: Ebenezer Scrooge is a money lender and a tight-fisted old miser. It is Christmas Eve now and he is in his office:

Scene II In Ebenezer`s house

Narrator: Ebenezer has a lot of money but he is not happy. He shuts his office and goes home. At home it is cold and he is alone. Then he hears a voice. It is his old partner Jacob Marley.

Scene III In Ebenezer`s bedroom

Narrator: In this night, Ebenezer has a long dream. At first he is visited by the Ghost of Christmas Past.

Scene IV ---- At Mr Fezziwig`s party

But Ebenezer must see more. He cannot go home. Now he is visited by the Ghost of Christmas Present.

Scene V At Bob Cratchit`s house - In nephew Fred`s house

Narrator: Ebenezer Scrooge is unhappy. He wants to change his life but he is visited by another ghost.

Scene VI In the graveyard

Scene VII In Ebenezer`s bedroom

Ebenezer wakes up. There is no ghost in his room. He is alone in his bed but he really wants to change now. He opens his window and looks out.

Nephew Fred:

Scene I - office

A Merry Christmas, Uncle.

Scene V - in his home at a Christmas party

Think of a wild and disagreeable animal!

Fred`s wife:

Scene V - - in her home at a Christmas party

Is it a lion? No! Is it your Uncle Scrooge? Yes!

Two gentlemen:

Scene I - office

A penny for the poor, Mr. Scrooge!

Jacob Marley`s Ghost

Scene II - in Ebenezer`s house

I warn you, Ebenezer. You must become a better man. You must help people, feel sorry for them and laugh with them. It is too late for me, but it is not too late for you.

Ghost of Christmas Past:

Scene III - Ebenezer`s house

Ebenezer Scrooge, wake up, wake up and come with me. I will take you back to happier days.

Scene IV - House of Mr Fezziwig

And do you remember her? That pretty girl over there. She loved you but you loved your money more than her.

Ghost of Christmas Present

Scene V - House of Bob Cratchit

Ebenezer Scrooge, come with me and look into the house of your clerk Bob Cratchit. You do not give him enough money for his family. His daughter Martha must work, even on Christmas Eve.

Scene V - House of Bob Cratchit

This is Tiny Tim. His father has no money for the doctor. If things don`t get better soon for Bob Cratchit, Tiny Tim will die.

Ghost of Christmas Future

Scene VII

Yes, the people are laughing because they are happy that you are dead, Ebenezer, the old unfriendly miser.

Mr Fezziwig

Scene III - Fezziwig`s House - Christmas party

Let`s all be merry and sing and dance- it`s Christmas Eve!

Ebenezer`s Old Sweetheart

Scene III - Fezziwig`s House - Christmas party

I am standing under the mistletoe, Ebenezer!

Mrs Cratchit

Scene V - Bob`s house

And here is a potato for each of you!

Scene V - Bob`s house

Peter Cratchit

Scene V - Bob`s house

Yes, what a wonderful goose.

Bob Cratchit

Scene I - office

May I go home now, Mr. Scrooge. It`s Christmas Eve!

Scene V - Bob`s house

Merry Christmas to all of you! Here is the Christmas goose. Give me a hand, Peter.

Good evening Martha, it is so nice you are here!

Merry Christmas to all of you!

Martha Cratchit

Scene V - Bob`s house

Oh, it is so nice to be at home with my family on Christmas Eve.

Tiny Tim Cratchit

Scene V - Bob`s house

Let`s thank Mr. Scrooge for the lovely Christmas dinner.

Two fat merchants

Scene VI - in the street

Who was he?

I don't know. I only know he is dead.

Who will go to the funeral?

No one - he had no friends!

Two gravediggers

Scene VI - in the graveyard

Who will go to the funeral?

No one - he had no friends!

Newspaper Boy

Scene VII - in the street

Why, it's Christmas Day of course!

Ebenezer Scrooge

Scene I - office

Bah, humbug. Why are you merry, you are so poor. You have no money. You cannot be happy.

Are there no workhouses? Let the poor go there!

Scene II - Ebenezer`s house

I can`t believe it is you, Jacob. I will just go to bed now.

Scene III- Feeziwig`s house

My God, what`s this? It`s old Mr Feeziwig, my master. He was such a good man. And this is Christmas in his house. We had a lot of fun.

Scene IV- Feeziwig`s house

Yes, yes, I know. I am sorry. I am not a good man. I can see that now. Please take me back home.

Scene V- Bob Cratchit`s house

I am sorry, I am sorry. And who is this little boy there?

Scene VI - in the street

Where are we now? Someone has died but all the people are laughing!

No, no, I want to change. I am not the man I was, please take me back.

Scene VII - in Ebenezer`s house

A merry Christmas to everybody. What`s today?

Can you go to the shop at the corner and buy the biggest turkey for me. I want to send it to Bob Cratchit and his family. Then I will go to church. I am so happy that I am alive and can still become a better man.